Welcome to your first issue of the "The Bradford County Newsletter." The intention of this newsletter is to provide the citizens of Bradford County with information on the issues that we are facing as a County and to raise the awareness on the various services the county can provide. This publication will be sent to you on a monthly basis.

Each issue will provide details and facts regarding current projects that Bradford County is working on, information and updates on issues that concern our citizens, and a complete listing of county offices and contact numbers.

We would like to encourage you to share this with family and friends who may sign up for their subscription by going to the Bradford County website www.bradfordcountypa.org today and click on the "Sign up here for our New County Newsletter." New subscriptions will arrive at the beginning of each month. Remember all that is required is a valid e-mail address. Although we are expecting the roll out of this to go as planned, we encourage anyone who has problems to please report them via the newsletter sign-up page. This will ensure that we are aware of and can fix any issues immediately.

The Bradford County Commissioners would like to express a thank you to CQ Services for the design and maintenance of the Bradford County Website and special thanks for their help in creating our email newsletter sign up page.

Bradford County government looks forward to your participation in this effort to share the issues that concern us all.

Repair & Restoration of Courthouse Dome

By: Mark Smith & Michelle Shedden, Photos Courtesy of John Milner & Assoc.

The repair & restoration of the courthouse dome will soon be underway. It is the Commissioner's goal to get this project underway and finished by this summer.

The bid for the paint conservation was awarded to Evergreene Studios of New York City. Their bid for the project was $59,125.

The paint conservator comes with great recommendations from entities such as the New York Public Library, Michigan State Capitol and many others. Evergreene is currently working in Elmira, NY, on the Clemens Center. A bid conference for the scaffolding portion of the project was held on February 15th. This was an opportunity for interested bidders to examine the project. Interested bidders assessed the different ways they can approach a project of this scope. Evergreene Studios and our architect for the project, John Milner & Assoc. were in attendance so bidders would have the opportunity to ask questions about the project.

The scaffolding is a challenging project in the courthouse because of the space and the low loads that are able to be placed on the floors. The scaffolding will need to be in place for approximately two months. While in place it is required that the scaffolding allows for normal courthouse operations while painters are working 90 ft. above the first floor of the courthouse. Scaffolding bids are now scheduled to be opened April 3rd.

The dome which along with the courthouse was constructed in 1897 has never been painted or repaired. The painting is of a sky full of clouds. Over the years portions of plaster have fallen down. The work to repair the plaster will require Evergreene Studios to examine the remaining plaster and remove any loose pieces. Then they will recast the parts of the plaster and replace them.

The paint will be chemically cleaned and Evergreene Studios will "touch up" the dome and the decorative trim around the dome. Work such as the window frames will be done by county maintenance workers. Their work includes the window trim on all the windows that surround the base of the dome.

Besides the paint and plaster repair the other portion of this project is cleaning the backside of the dome. This will also be done by Evergreene Studios. After the paint and plaster repair is done they will vacuum the other side of the dome. Since it's construction in 1897 dirt has built up on the backside of the dome. The build up contributes to the discoloration of the paint. This is caused by moisture that migrates through the paint from the back side carrying dirt with it. Over many years this, along with smoking that was allowed at the courthouse, has caused the dome to become severely discolored.

The paint and plaster repair is estimated to take 8-9 weeks to complete with some time to be added for the construction and dismantling of the scaffolding.

When the project is finished we will have a clean and structurally sound courthouse dome. In the future the Commissioners may be investigating ways to insulate the dome. This may be a major area of heat loss for our Courthouse. As we move forward looking at ways to address our energy costs the Commissioners hope this is something they can address at that point.

Left: The two square bright spots are an indication of how badly the paint has become stained over the years. This area was cleaned 3 years ago as a test to reveal the true color of the paint.

Left & Right: A view inside the dome. This is an open area that is between the interior and exterior. This open area houses the wench system that raises and lowers the large chandelier to allow for cleaning and replacement of light bulbs. As part of the repair and restoration this area will be professionally cleaned by the paint conservator.

Treatment Court has First Graduate

By: Phil Cusano

Three years ago this January a committee was formed to develop a Treatment Court in Bradford County. The committee was comprised of Common Pleas Judges, Magisterial District Judges, Probation, Public Defender, District Attorney, County D&A and other providers. Treatment Court is a restrictive intermediate punishment program, which uses intensive treatment, intensive probation supervision, urine screening and regular court appearances in lieu of extended incarceration. Sentencing to Treatment Court is a minimum of two years.

There are numerous courts of this type throughout the Commonwealth as well as the United States. They take the form of Drug Courts, DUI Courts, Mental Health Courts and Juvenile Courts. The goal of these problem-solving courts is to reduce incarceration days and to reduce recidivism by addressing the underlying problem that sets up the antisocial or problem behavior. These systems have over the years been the most researched programs in history and have been found to be effective and economical. The cost of incarceration goes well beyond the cost of room and board at the jail. The cost of incarceration reaches every corner of public funding including medical assistance, child welfare, food stamps, income maintenance and housing.

Bradford County Treatment Court currently has 27 participants in various levels of recovery. Our first offender was accepted into the program two years ago. The Treatment Court Team is very proud to announce our first graduate from the program.

County 911 Re-addressing Moving Forward By: Mark Smith

On March 19th the County Commissioners had a meeting with MSAG, the consultant previously hired to re-address Bradford County. The county is currently receiving road names from townships and boroughs across Bradford County. As these road names are received by MSAG they will begin implementing the new addresses. It was communicated to the Commissioners that the project will begin to make significant progress this April and should be able to be finished by the end of the year.

Human Services Offices get Security Upgrades By: William Lavelle

Stemming from an on site inspection of the Human Services office conducted by Bruce Mitchell, C.C.A.P. (County Commissioners Assoc. of PA) Loss Control Director, emphasis was placed on security issues concerning accessibility and occupancy of the Human Services office. The inspection resulted in a detailed report offering suggestions to increase safety and security. As a result of these recommendations renovations to the Human Services office began on February 19, 2008.

The reception area will be enclosed with security walls, which are bullet proof, and will not be accessible from the exam rooms. A second security door will be installed outside the exam room with access being limited to authorized personnel. The entryway to the reception area will be within the office suite with access being limited to authorized personnel. Security mailboxes will be installed to increase confidentiality and privacy. The improvements were made possible in part by a grant from the Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare.

Accounting Implementing New Software By: Joan Sanderson

The County's Accounting Department is currently implementing a new software package. All the County financial data such as payroll, the budget, purchase orders and all other things financial are being set up and converted over the next few months. The new software is internet based. This provides easy access to all department heads and elected officials. Elected officials and Department heads will be able to view their employees accumulated time and the financial status of their departments. This will also allow the county to produce more publicly accessible financial documents that will be available on the County website. The goal is to implement the new system in June 2008. The software is a product of New World Systems of Troy, Michigan. This was an investment of over $300,000 for the county.
